The term “advisor” and “adviser” are used interchangeably where accuracy in identification is necessary (i.e., Internet address, etc.).

Item 4 - Advisory Business

Description of the Firm

Juetten Personal Financial Planning, LLC is a fee-only investment advisor formed in 2001 and domiciled in the State of Washington. In addition to our firm's original registration in 2002 as an investment advisor within Washington, Juetten Personal Financial Planning, LLC and our associates may register or meet certain exemptions to registration in other states in which we conduct business.

Steve Juetten, CFP® is the firm's Principal (supervisor), Managing Member, and he has controlling interest in the firm. Additional information about Mr. Juetten and his professional experience may be found toward the end of this brochure.

"Fee-only" means that we do not sell any financial products; we offer our advice and services. This is different than others that receive commissions on the sale of an investment or insurance product. We provide these fee-only services to individuals, high net worth individuals, as well as their trusts and estates.

Approximately 40% of our work is oriented toward consulting with our clients with respect to their investments; 60% involving financial planning that may involve expense budgeting and savings; education, insurance, charitable and estate planning, among others.

The Fiduciary Standard

Juetten Personal Financial Planning, LLC holds itself to a fiduciary standard, which means our firm and its associates will act in the utmost good faith and perform in a manner believed to be in the best interest of our clients. As investment advisors we are required to put you - the client – first. We will also ensure that we have disclosed any material conflicts of interest that could be reasonably expected to impair the rendering of unbiased and objective advice.

Description of Advisory Services Offered

Juetten Personal Financial Planning, LLC offers the following types of services:

- Broad-based (sometimes termed comprehensive) financial planning;
- Planning related to one or a few personal finance topics, for example, college funding, home purchase, investment or retirement planning; and
- Ongoing investment management.

Broad-based financial planning and planning related to one or a few personal financial topics are provided collaboratively with you working with our team of financial advisors. On-going investment management is provided in one of two ways:

1. Do-It-Yourself: in this approach, we develop an asset allocation model with you, including specific security purchase recommendations, and you implement the asset allocation by making the trades; with this approach, you are also responsible for rebalancing your portfolio and tracking the performance of it; or

2. Custom: in this approach, we develop an asset allocation model with you, and we use the services of a sub-advisor to implement the model. The sub-advisor makes the trades for you, rebalances the portfolio and reports on your portfolio's performance. We use the services of the SEC-registered SAS Capital Management, LLC which conducts business as Summit Advisor Solutions.

Through these various methods you may engage our firm for either general financial planning or ongoing investment management services -- or both.

General Financial Planning Services

A comprehensive, or more broad-based, financial plan typically addresses goal setting for:

- cash flow
- personal risk management including the adequacy of:
 - ✓ life insurance
 - ✓ disability insurance
 - ✓ medical coverage
 - ✓ auto/home/umbrella liability insurance
 - ✓ long-term care needs
- investment risk tolerance
- college planning
- investment management
- retirement income planning
- basic estate planning

Taxes are an issue in several of these areas and it is a topic that we discuss with you as part of our planning, however, tax planning or accounting are not areas of service we provide.

One-on-One Sessions

You may engage an associate to create a comprehensive plan or ask for assistance with one or several of the issues listed above. We will send you an agreement that states the nature, scope and fees for the engagement, as well as our Privacy Policy and Form ADV Part 2. After you sign and return the agreement, we will provide you with forms to complete that provide us with the information on your current financial situation that includes your goals, assets, liabilities, insurance policies and monthly spending patterns. This information provides us with a picture of your current situation and we will begin the planning process according to the requirements of the engagement agreement.

All financial planning projects include a written report that assesses your current situation and offer recommendations for changes, when necessary, to assist you in meeting your stated goals. Under this service engagement, you will be responsible for following through on our recommendations. For example, after we deliver the plan it would be your responsibility for obtaining life insurance, opening a college saving plan or making changes to your investment account.

Ongoing Investment Management Services

You may also engage our firm to provide Ongoing Investment Management Services. As we mentioned earlier, if this service is requested, there are two approaches that we use:

- Do-It-Yourself: in which we recommend a portfolio and you implement it and maintain the portfolio, or
- Custom: in which we develop an asset allocation model with you and use the services of a sub-advisor to implement and maintain the portfolio for you.

Do-It-Yourself

We begin the Do-It-Yourself engagement by sending you an agreement that states the nature, scope and fees for our services. We will also send you our Privacy Policy and Form ADV Part 2. After you sign and return the agreement, we send information gathering forms that provide us with your current financial situation including goals, risk tolerance, investment philosophy and current holdings which will provide us with a better picture of your situation. We will also need a copy of your most recent investment account statements.

An associate will prepare a customized Target Portfolio which will include the type and amount of securities to purchase. The Target Portfolio we develop is based on your stated goals, time horizon and tolerance for risk. We will include all of your investment accounts, such as individual retirement accounts (IRAs); taxable accounts, employer savings plans (i.e., 401(k), 403(b), Employee Stock Purchase Plans), and any non-qualified deferred compensation plans you may have.

Our basic approach is to employ Modern Portfolio Theory that states investment markets are efficient and therefore stock-picking and market-timing are essentially useless and past performance is meaningless. Instead, diversification among different asset classes is the cornerstone of a good portfolio and rebalancing is required to maintain the portfolio mix. [We will go into further detail in Item 8 of this brochure.]

You will implement all the necessary trades with your employer plan or through a custodian that you choose to hold your non-employer plan investment account.

Once the target portfolio is established, you will meet with our associate three or four times a year to review the portfolio's performance in light of the your goals. If rebalancing is needed to bring the portfolio back into line with the target portfolio, we will recommend how to accomplish this by either adjusting future contributions or through selling some assets and buying others.

In addition to regularly scheduled investment reviews, you may request general personal financial planning advice from our firm. If the requested advice entails extensive effort by an associate, we may charge an additional fee based on the current hourly fee. We may also contact you if investment issues surface that might require adjustments to investment plans or other financial planning issues, for example, a change in interest rates or passage of federal legislation that might affect you or your account.

Custom

You may desire professional management of your investments but would like it to be less effort or time intensive. If you want involvement in the securities market but a simpler approach to investing, we offer Custom Investment Management Services. This approach to investing uses model portfolios and the services of a sub-advisor to manage your assets.

The custom portfolios are created by our firm and approved by the investment committee of Summit Advisor Solutions using Dimensional Fund Advisors (DFA) as the underlying investment vehicles. Summit Advisor Solutions acts as the sub-advisor to assist our firm with these models and they are an SEC registered investment advisor. Your assets are held in individual accounts with a custodian at either Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (“Schwab”) or TD Ameritrade, Inc. (“TD Ameritrade”)¹. Summit Advisor Solutions rebalances model portfolios regularly to maintain target allocations and provide performance reporting.

This type of engagement begins when our firm sends an agreement to you stating the nature, scope and fee for the Custom Investment Management Service. We will also send you our Privacy Policy and Form ADV Part 2. After you sign and return the agreement, we will request information on your current financial situation, goals, time horizon and risk tolerance. After we have a clear picture of your situation, the rest of the planning process proceeds according to the terms of the agreement. To participate in the custom program, we will require your investment account be transferred to and maintained by one of the noted custodians so that they may be allocated within the model portfolios. Therefore, you will be asked to complete various account application and asset transfer forms.

We will assist you in selecting the initial model portfolio that meets your risk tolerance and time horizon. There are 270 portfolios to choose from that range from the most aggressive, with a mix of up to 99% equities and 1% fixed income; to the most conservative, with a mix of approximately 27% equities and 73% fixed income. Your portfolio is regularly rebalanced. You may stop participation at any time, with no cost to cease participation in the model portfolio.

Most model portfolios employ Modern Portfolio Theory which focuses on the diversification among different asset classes as its cornerstone and rebalancing where required to maintain the portfolio mix. The portfolios contain eight or more DFA funds that in turn may hold over 7,000 individual stocks.

DFA funds are “structured mutual funds” that follow a passive investing approach. In contrast to a “pure index fund” that follows an external index, like the S&P 500 or Russell 2000, a structured mutual fund creates its own private index that is designed to keep turnover to a minimum. Mutual funds from DFA purchase stocks and bonds that meet its selection criteria based on market capitalization. Once DFA creates the list of stocks that it wants to own in a mutual fund, it buys only those that can be cheaply purchased.

An essential part of the Custom Investment Management Services is continuous investor education. The purpose of the ongoing education is so that you know what you hold and why. Investor education is

Examples of topics that are covered in monthly newsletters or live events include investment philosophy, history of investing, rebalancing, and the “sky is falling” (not!).

Client-Tailored Services and Client-Imposed Restrictions

Broad-Based vs. Modular Financial Planning

A broad-based plan is an endeavor that requires detail, therefore, certain variables can affect the cost involved in the development of the plan: the quality of your own records, complexity and number of current investments, types of insurance owned and employee benefits you may receive, size of the potential estate, special needs of the client or their dependents, among a host of others. While certain broad-based plans may require 10 or more hours to complete, complex plans may require more than 20 hours. Alternatively, we may concentrate on reviewing only a specific area (modular planning), such as college funding, a portfolio allocation, or evaluating the sufficiency of your retirement plan. Note that when these services focus only on certain areas of your interest or need, your overall situation or needs may not be fully addressed due to limitations you may have established.

Whether we have created a broad-based or modular plan, we will present you with a summary of our recommendations, guide you in the implementation of some or all of them, as well as offer you periodic reviews thereafter (see Item 13).

Unless specifically stated in your agreement with our firm, upon completion of our presentation or delivery of advice our financial planning and investment consultation engagement is concluded. We recommend that you return for periodic reviews.

In all instances involving our financial planning and investment consultation services engagements, you retain full discretion over all implementation decisions and are free to accept or reject any recommendation we make.

Investment Account Restrictions

With the exception of certain mutual funds, most investment management programs allow for reasonable restrictions involving the management of an investment account, such as avoiding or requiring certain types of holdings (e.g., “sin stocks,” international or small cap stocks, etc.).

It will remain your responsibility to promptly notify our firm if there is any change in your financial situation and/or investment objectives for the purpose of reviewing, evaluating or revising previous account restrictions or firm investment recommendations.

Wrap Fee Programs

Juetten Personal Financial Planning, LLC does not sponsor or serve as a portfolio manager for wrap fee investment programs.

Client Assets Under Management

Due to the nature of our current investment advisory services, there are no reportable client assets directly under our firm's management.²

Item 5 - Fees and Compensation

Method of Compensation and Fee Schedule

We assess an hourly or project fee for our Financial Planning Services. Smaller projects are generally done on an hourly basis, for example, an annual investment review; larger projects are done on a project cost basis, for example, a comprehensive financial plan.

We may charge from $195 to $300 per hour for hourly projects, depending on the associate's rate, and the fee range for projects range from $1,500 to $2,500 based on the complexity of your situation. For example, the fee for a single person with one income and two or three investment accounts will be less than the fee for a married couple who have multiple streams of income, two children, stock options, multiple investment accounts and rental income property. Fees are negotiated between you and our firm based on the scope of services provided. Fees are payable monthly after the selected services have been delivered.

If you request Do-It-Yourself Investment Management Services, you will pay an annual fee that ranges from $3,250 to $35,000. Lower fees may be charged for simpler portfolios; higher fees charged for more complex portfolios and are negotiated between you and our firm based on the scope of services and portfolio complexity. Fees are payable quarterly after services for the period have been delivered.

Custom Investment Management Services has fees from four sources that make up the total cost to you as the investor:

- Mutual fund company (DFA)
- Custodian (Schwab or TD Ameritrade)
- Sub-advisor (Summit Advisor Solutions)
- Our fee.

Unlike other aspects of our business, some of these fees are based on a percentage of assets that you invest. Mutual fund company fees range from 0.30% to 0.50% depending on the type of security (funds that invest international companies are typically more expensive).

Custodians charge a fee for trading and other services. For example, TD Ameritrade charges $24 for each trade of a DFA mutual fund and Schwab charges $49 for each trade. Summit Advisor Solutions charges 0.25% of assets under management. We combine the Summit Advisor Solutions fee and our fee into one flat fee that has tiers based on the number of household assets.

Your quarterly statement separates the fee into what Summit Advisor Solutions is paid and what Juetten Personal Financial Planning, LLC is paid.

Value of Investable Assets	Annual Fee*
$1 to $500,000	$5,000
$500,001 to $1,000,000	$7,000
$1,000,001 to $2,000,000	$9,000
$2,000,001 to $3,000,000	$12,500
$3,000,001 to $5,000,000	$17,500
$5,000,001 and Above	0.50% (50 basis points) of assets under management

* Note that clients that started before July 1, 2014 may remain on a different fee schedule.

Aggregating Accounts

At our discretion, we may aggregate investment management accounts (including multiple accounts) for the same client, or two or more accounts within the same family, or accounts where a family member has power of attorney over another family member or incompetent person's account. If investment objectives are substantially different for any two or more household accounts requiring different investment approaches, we reserve the right to apply our fee schedule separately to each account.

Discounting Fees

Any discounting of fees is negotiable and at the discretion of a firm principal and we may also waive fees in certain circumstances. Our firm strives to offer fees that are fair and reasonable in light of the experience of our firm and the services to be provided; similar services may be made available from other firms and potentially at a lesser fee.

Client Payment of Fees

Hourly and Fixed Fees

Fees may be paid by check or cashier's draft from a US-based bank. The firm will not accept cash, PayPal, debit/credit card or similar forms of payment for its advisory engagements. Payment of advisory fees are generally due upon your receipt of our invoice, and engagements that are greater than 30 days in duration may be billed monthly, in arrears.

Asset-Based Fees

Depending on your agreement, your advisory fee is paid quarterly from your account at the beginning of next quarter, for the previous quarter (in advance). Your first billing cycle will begin once your agreement is executed and your assets have settled into your account held by the custodian of record. Fees for partial quarters will be prorated based on the remaining days in the reporting period in which our firm and/or third-party manager services the account.

Accounts will be valued in accordance with the values disclosed on the statement the client receives from the custodian for the purpose of verifying the computation of the advisory fee. In the absence of a reportable market value, our firm may seek an independent third-party opinion or may make its own good faith determination of the market value using commonly accepted industry practices.

By signing the firm's engagement agreement, as well as the selected custodian account opening documents, you will be authorizing the withdrawal of transactional fees (see following section) and our firm's advisory fee from your account. All fees will be clearly noted on account statements that you will receive from the account custodian of record. Both you and the custodian will be sent a notice ("invoice") of the fees to be deducted from your account. The notice will include the total fee assessed, covered time period, calculation formula utilized, and the assets under management on which the fee has been based. The withdrawal of these fees will be accomplished by the custodian, not by our advisory firm, and they will remit our fees to our firm. It is important that you verify the accuracy of the fee calculation; the custodian may not verify the accuracy for an account.

Additional Client Fees

Any transactional or service fees (sometimes termed brokerage fees) assessed by a custodian, individual retirement account fees, or qualified retirement plan account termination fees will be borne by the accountholder and are per those provided in current, separate fee schedules of any selected service provider of your account.

Fees paid by our clients to our firm for our advisory services are separate from any transactional charges a client may pay, as well as those for mutual funds, exchange-traded funds (ETFs), exchange-traded notes (ETNs), or other investments of this type.

Additional information about our fees in relationship to our business practices are noted in Items 12 and 14 of this document.

Charged Prepayment of Client Fees

Advance Payment for Certain Services

We reserve the right to require an initial deposit for financial planning engagements in the amount of $500 or one-half of the upper end of the estimated fee range (whichever is greater), and this deposit will be defined in your engagement agreement.

Termination of Services

Either party may terminate the agreement at any time, which will typically be in writing. Should you verbally notify our firm of the termination and, if in two business days following this notification we have not received your notice in writing, we will make a written notice of the termination in our records and send you our own termination notice as a substitute.

If our Form ADV Part 2 brochure was not delivered to you at least 48 hours prior to entering into the investment advisory contract, then you have the right to terminate the engagement without penalty within five business days after entering into the agreement. Should you terminate an engagement after this time period, you may be assessed fees for any time or charges incurred by our firm in the preparation of your plan or investment allocation. We will promptly return any prepaid, unearned amount upon receipt of termination notice.

For those clients who utilize our investment management services, our firm will not be responsible for future allocations or investment advice upon receipt of a termination notice. It will also be necessary that we inform the custodian and sub-advisor serving the account that the relationship between our firm and the client has been terminated.

External Compensation for the Sale of Securities to Clients

Our advisory firm is engaged for fee-only services and we attempt to recommend “no load” investments whenever practical. We do not charge or receive a commission or mark-up on your securities transactions, nor will the firm or an associate be paid a commission on your purchase of a securities holding that we recommend.

We do not receive “trailer” or SEC Rule 12b-1 fees from an investment company we may recommend. Fees charged by issuers are detailed in prospectuses or product descriptions and you are encouraged to read these documents before investing. Our firm and its associates receive none of these described or similar fees or charges.

You may have the option to purchase recommended or similar investments through your own selected service provider.

Item 6 - Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Our advisory fees will not be based upon a share of capital gains or capital appreciation (growth) of any portion of managed funds, also known as “performance-based fees.” Performance-based compensation creates an incentive for a firm or their representatives to recommend an investment that may carry a higher degree of risk to a client. The firm does not use a performance-based fee structure because of the conflict of interest this type of fee structure poses.

Advisory fees will also not be based on side-by-side management, which refers to a firm simultaneously managing accounts that do pay performance-based fees (such as a hedge fund) and those that do not; this type of arrangement, and the conflict of interest it may pose, does not conform to our firm’s practices.

Item 7 - Types of Clients

Juetten Personal Financial Planning, LLC provides services to help individual and high net worth individual investors, as well as their trusts and estates, to address their financial objectives in what is believed to be a cost-effective way. We do not require minimum income levels, minimum level of assets, or other conditions for our financial planning and investment consultation services. Our fixed fees may be impractical for smaller accounts; therefore, an hourly assessment may be employed. Summit Advisor Solutions may choose to restrict model portfolio accounts with less than $100,000 in investible assets.

We reserve the right to waive or reduce certain fees based on unique individual circumstances, special arrangements, or pre-existing relationships. We also reserve the right to decline services to any prospective client for any non-discriminatory reason.

Item 8 - Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

Method of Analysis

If we are engaged to provide services, we will first evaluate several factors, including:

- your current financial situation,
- your current and long-term needs,
- your investment goals and objectives, and
- your tolerance for risk.

Investment Strategies

Our investment strategy is based on four principles: investment markets are efficient; diversification is the key to managing risks, costs matter and regularly rebalancing a portfolio is essential. As such, we recommend that our clients follow an asset allocation approach to investing and focus on finding the right mix of asset classes for their goals, time horizon, risk tolerance and unique interests.

We recommend clients use passively managed funds or exchange-traded funds (ETFs) whenever possible and, when a fund or ETF is not available for an asset class that our client wants to hold in their portfolio, we will recommend low-cost mutual funds. For example, you may hold a portion of your investments in a company-sponsored savings plan like a 401(k) or 403(b) plan that does not offer index funds. In this case, we may recommend low-cost mutual funds from the limited universe of funds. We also recommend that our clients rebalance their portfolio at a minimum of once per year for taxable accounts; twice a year for tax-deferred or tax-free accounts.

If you have an existing portfolio at the time you engage our firm, we will evaluate your existing holdings and determine whether it is appropriate to continue to hold some or all of them, based on your objectives and needs.

We employ a “Core and Satellite” approach to create the overall portfolio. In using this approach, the core is made up of 80% to 95% passive mutual funds or ETFs representing the major asset classes. The satellite portion is made up of securities you believe will outperform the overall investment markets. For example, if you believe a particular stock or market sector is under-valued and is likely to increase in value at a greater rate compared to the overall investment markets, that stock or market sector (fund or ETF) will be in the satellite portfolio. We do not evaluate or recommend any securities that you may hold in the satellite portion of your overall portfolio.

Models managed by Summit Advisor Solutions through our custom investment services are constructed using Modern Portfolio Theory and the Efficient Market Philosophy to create and manage portfolios that fall on the “efficient frontier.” Summit Advisor Solutions does not make asset allocation decisions based on the conditions of the economy or the market, but rather on economic research related to the manner in which various asset classes have performed and the correlation of their performance over time.

Summit Advisor Solutions’ investment strategy involves asset allocation with periodic rebalancing and/or re-optimization of portfolios and target allocations as needed. Your account is invested in accordance with your asset allocation strategy. At the inception of your account, assets are invested in specific asset class mutual funds and cash-like investments (i.e., money markets, etc.).

Amounts invested in each asset type are determined by set target percentages of total assets in the account. As markets fluctuate and values change, amounts originally allocated to an asset type will either exceed or fall below the original target allocation. Summit Advisor Solutions will periodically adjust your account holdings back to the original asset targets or rebalance the account.

You should note that Summit Advisor Solutions does not rebalance accounts constantly and asset allocations may drift away from their original target percentages before Summit Advisor Solutions bring allocations back in line to the original percentages. When your account is rebalanced, they may sell holdings that are appreciating in value to buy other holdings that may be declining in value. However, the investment philosophy of an asset allocation strategy is to be positioned in various asset types so that when the asset type becomes profitable, the account is positioned to take advantage of the upturn. You will be granting Summit Advisor Solutions the authority to reallocate assets in your account.

During a reallocation, they will change the target percentages that some or all of the asset classes or types will have relative to the total account, and reallocations occur with less frequency than rebalancing.

Investment Strategy and Method of Analysis Material Risks

While we believe our strategies and investment recommendation are designed to potentially produce the highest possible return for a given level of risk, we cannot guarantee that an investment objective or planning goal will be achieved.

Some investment decisions may result in loss, including potential loss of the original principal invested. Each client must be able to bear the various risks involved in the investment of account assets, which may include market, currency, interest rate, liquidity, operational or political risk, among others.

When research and analyses is based upon commercially available software, rating services, general market and financial information, or due diligence reviews, we are relying upon the accuracy and validity of the information or capabilities being provided by selected vendors, rating services, market data, and the issuers themselves. We make a reasonable effort to determine the accuracy of the information received but we cannot predict events, actions taken or not taken, or the validity of all information researched or provided which may or may not affect the advice to a client or account.

Strategies involving Core + Satellite investing may have the potential to be affected by “active risk” or “tracking error risk,” which might be defined as a deviation from the stated benchmark. Since the core portfolio attempts to closely replicate a stated benchmark, the source of the tracking error or deviation may come from a satellite portfolio or position, or from a “sample” or “optimized” index fund or ETF that may not as closely align with the stated benchmark. In these instances, a portfolio manager may choose to reduce the weighting of a satellite holding, utilize very active satellites, or use a “replicate index” position as part of its core holdings to minimize the effects of the tracking error in relation to the overall portfolio.

Should a portfolio employ a passive, efficient markets approach, an investor will need to consider the potential risk that the broader allocation may at times generate lower-than-expected returns than that from a specific asset, and that the return on each type of asset is a deviation from the market return for the asset class. It is felt that this variance from the “expected return” is generally low under normal market conditions if the portfolio is made up of diverse, low or non-correlated assets.

Correlation refers to the extent in which prices move in the same direction; therefore, non-correlated investment strategies may be used within a portfolio to neutralize or counterbalance the risk should one or more types of holdings fall in value.

ETFs and mutual funds may carry additional expenses based on their share of operating expenses and certain brokerage fees, which may result in the potential duplication of certain fees. The risk of owning these types of holdings also reflects the risks of their underlying securities. Also, while many ETFs and certain types of mutual funds are known for their potential tax-efficiency and higher “qualified dividend income” (QDI) percentages, there are asset classes within these investment vehicles or holding periods within that may not benefit. Shorter holding periods, as well as commodities and currencies (that may be part of an ETF or mutual fund portfolio), may be considered “non-qualified” under certain tax code provisions. We consider a holding’s QDI when tax-efficiency is an important aspect of the client’s portfolio.

Item 9 - Disciplinary Information

Neither Juetten Personal Financial Planning, LLC nor any of our associates has been involved in a material criminal or civil action in a domestic, foreign or military jurisdiction, an administrative enforcement action, or self-regulatory organization proceeding that would reflect poorly upon the firm’s advisory business or its integrity.

Item 10 - Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Our policies require our firm and associates to conduct business activities in a manner that avoid actual or potential conflicts of interest between our firm, employees and clients, or that may be contrary to law. We will provide disclosure to each client prior to and throughout the term of an engagement regarding any conflicts of interest which might reasonably compromise our impartiality or independence.

Our advisory firm is not registered nor has an application pending to register as a Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) or National Futures Association (NFA) member firm, nor are we required to be registered with such entities. Neither our firm nor its management is or has a material relationship with any of the following types of entities:

- accounting firm or accountant
- bank, credit union or thrift institution
- insurance company or insurance agency
- lawyer or law firm
- real estate broker or dealer
- trust company
- sponsor or syndicator of limited partnerships
- issuer of a security, to include investment company or other pooled investment vehicle (including a mutual fund, closed-end investment company, unit investment trust, private investment company or “hedge fund,” and offshore fund)

We periodically serve as a consultant to pension and profit sharing plans/participants under a separate brochure and engagement agreement.

As noted in Item 4 of this brochure, our firm engages Summit Advisor Solutions to assist us in managing our clients' portfolios. Summit Advisor Solutions is a registered investment advisor, and we ensure that they are notice-filed within our client's state of residence when it is necessary. Per our description of our fees in Item 5, both our firm and Summit Advisor Solutions share in the advisory fee that you pay. There is the potential for clients fees assessed via our Summit Advisor Solutions engagement to be higher than had a client obtained those services directly from another advisor. Clients are encouraged to review all of our investment program offerings and their associated fees prior to the engagement. Each client retains the option to purchase recommended or similar investments through their own selected service provider, and it should be noted that certain sub-advisors may not be available to self-directed investors.

Upon client request we provide referral to various professionals, such as an accountant or attorney. While these referrals are based on the best information made available, our firm does not guarantee the quality or adequacy of the work provided by these referred professionals. There is not an agreement with these entities nor are referral fees received from these professionals for such informal referrals. Any fees charged by these other entities for their services are completely separate from fees charged by our firm.

Item 11 - Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics Description

We have adopted a Code of Ethics that establishes policies of ethical conduct for all our personnel. Our firm accepts the obligation to not only to comply with all applicable laws and regulations, but also to act in an ethical and professionally responsible manner in all professional services and activities. Our policies include prohibitions against insider trading, circulation of industry rumor, certain political contributions, among others. The firm periodically reviews and amends its Code of Ethics to ensure that it remains current, and requires access persons to attest to their understanding of and adherence to the Code of Ethics at least annually. A copy of the firm's Code of Ethics is made available to any client or prospective client upon request.

Associates of the firm who are also CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™ Professionals adhere to the Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Inc. principles, which state:

Principle 1 – Integrity

An advisor will provide professional services with integrity. Integrity demands honesty and candor which must not be subordinated to personal gain and advantage. Advisors are placed by clients in positions of trust, and the ultimate source of that trust is the advisor's personal integrity. Allowance can be made for innocent error and legitimate differences of opinion; but integrity cannot co-exist with deceit or subordination of one's principles.

Principle 2 – Objectivity

An advisor will provide professional services objectively. Objectivity requires intellectual honesty and impartiality. Regardless of the particular service rendered or the capacity in which an advisor functions, an advisor should protect the integrity of their work, maintain objectivity and avoid subordination of their judgment.

Principle 3 – Competence

Advisors will maintain the necessary knowledge and skill to provide professional services competently. Competence means attaining and maintaining an adequate level of knowledge and skill, and applies that knowledge effectively in providing services to clients. Competence also includes the wisdom to recognize the limitations of that knowledge and when consultation with other professionals is appropriate or referral to other professionals necessary. Advisors make a continuing commitment to learning and professional improvement.

Principle 4 – Fairness

Advisors will be fair and reasonable in all professional relationships. Fairness requires impartiality, intellectual honesty and disclosure of material conflict(s) of interest. It involves a subordination of one's own feelings, prejudices and desires so as to achieve a proper balance of conflicting interests. Fairness is treating others in the same fashion that you would want to be treated and is an essential trait of any professional.

Principle 5 – Confidentiality

Advisors will protect the confidentiality of all client information. Confidentiality means ensuring that information is accessible only to those authorized to have access. A relationship of trust and confidence with the client can only be built upon the understanding that the client's information will remain confidential.

Principle 6 – Professionalism

Advisors will act in a manner that demonstrates exemplary professional conduct. Professionalism requires behaving with dignity and courtesy to all who use their services, fellow professionals, and those in related professions. Advisors cooperate with fellow advisors to enhance and maintain the profession's public image and improve the quality of services.

Principle 7 – Diligence

Advisors will provide professional services diligently. Diligence is the provision of services in a reasonably prompt and thorough manner, including the proper planning for, and supervision of, the rendering of professional services.

Privacy Policy

A copy of our privacy policy notice is provided prior to or along with the execution of an engagement agreement. The firm will provide you with its privacy policy on an annual basis per federal law and at any time, in advance, if firm privacy policies are expected to change.

To ensure security and confidentiality, we maintain physical, electronic, and procedural safeguards to protect the privacy of your information.

Identifiable information about you and your account will be maintained during the span of the engagement and for the period thereafter as required by both securities industry and state privacy laws. After that time, information will be destroyed under our records destruction guidelines.

Investment Recommendations Involving a Material Financial Interest and Conflicts of Interest

Neither the firm nor an associate is authorized to recommend to a client, or effect a transaction for a client, involving any security in which the firm or a “related person” (e.g., associate, an immediate family member, etc.) has a material financial interest, such as in the capacity as an underwriter or advisor to an issuer of securities, etc.

An associate is prohibited from borrowing from or lending to a client unless the client is an approved financial institution.

The firm is able to provide a broad range of services to its clients, including financial planning, investment consultation, and investment management services. A fee for some or all of these services may be paid per the engagement agreement and, therefore, a potential conflict of interest may exist. Therefore, we note that you are under no obligation to act on a recommendation and, if you elect to do so, you are under no obligation to complete all of them through our firm or a service provider that may be recommended to you.

Firm/Related Persons’ Purchases of Same Securities Recommended to Clients and Conflicts of Interest

Our firm does not trade for its own account (e.g., proprietary trading). The firm’s related persons may buy or sell securities that are the same as, similar to, or different from, those recommended to clients for their accounts. A recommendation made to one client may be different in nature or in timing from a recommendation made to a different client; clients often have different objectives and risk tolerances. At no time will the firm or a related person receive preferential treatment over a client.

In an effort to reduce or eliminate certain conflicts of interest involving personal trading (i.e., trading ahead of a client’s order, etc.), firm policy requires the restriction or prohibition of related parties’ transactions in specific securities. Any exceptions or trading pre-clearance must be approved by the firm in advance of the transaction in a related person’s account, and the firm maintains required personal securities transaction records per regulation.

Item 12 - Brokerage Practices

Factors Used to Select Broker/Dealers for Client Transactions

Juetten Personal Financial Planning, LLC does not maintain physical custody of your assets (see Item 15). Your account must be maintained by a qualified custodian (generally a broker/dealer, bank or trust company) that is frequently reviewed for its capabilities to serve in that capacity by their respective industry regulatory authority. Our firm is not a custodian, nor is there an affiliate that is a custodian.

When engaged to provide investment consultation services, the firm may recommend the service provider with whom your assets are currently maintained. Should you prefer a new service provider, a recommendation made by the firm would be based on your needs, overall cost, and ease of use. If you engage our firm for its Custom Investment Management Services, your account must be maintained by Schwab or TD Ameritrade. While we recommend that you use these firms as your custodian, you will decide whether to do so and will open your account with them by entering into an account agreement directly with them. We do not technically open the account for you, although we will assist you in doing so.

If you do not wish to place your assets with one of the noted custodians, we will not be able to manage your account under our Custom Investment Management Services engagement and it may be necessary to engage our firm under another form of advisory service (e.g., investment consultation, etc.).

The cited custodians offer independent investment advisors various services which include custody of client assets, trade execution, clearance and settlement, etc. Our firm may receive certain benefits from the noted custodians through participation in their advisor support program (please see Item 14 for further details).

We periodically conduct an assessment of any service provider we recommend which generally involves a review of their range and quality of services, reasonableness of fees, among other items, and in comparison to their industry peers.

Best Execution

“Best execution” means the most favorable terms for a transaction based on all relevant factors, including those listed in the paragraph titled Factors Used to Select Broker-Dealers for Client Transactions and within Item 14.

Our firm recognizes its obligation in seeking best execution for its Custom Investment Management Services clients; however, it is believed the determinative factor is not always the lowest possible cost but whether the selected service provider's transactions represent the best “qualitative execution,” taking into consideration the full range of services provided. Therefore, our firm will seek services involving competitive rates but it may not necessarily correlate into the lowest possible rate for each transaction.

We have determined that having our clients' accounts trades executed through the noted custodians is consistent with our duty to seek best execution. Our firm periodically reviews policies regarding recommending custodians to firm clients in light of the firm's duty to seek best execution.

Directed Brokerage

Our firm does not require or engage in directed brokerage activities involving investment services accounts maintained at our selected custodian.

A client may direct that some or all of their transactions be executed at another broker/dealer. In these circumstances, the client will be responsible for negotiating, in advance, the terms and/or arrangements for their account with that particular broker/dealer. Our firm or a sub-advisor will not be obligated to seek better execution services or prices from these other broker/dealers, or would we be able to aggregate client transactions (should we ever choose to do so) for execution through our broker/dealer with orders for other accounts managed by our firm. As a result, a client requiring directed brokerage may pay higher commissions or other transaction costs, experience greater price spreads or receive less favorable net prices on transactions for their account than may otherwise have been the case.

Our firm reserves the right to decline requests for directed brokerage if we believe an arrangement would result in additional operational difficulties or risk to our firm.

Aggregating Securities Transactions

Trade aggregation involves the purchase or sale of the same security for several clients/accounts at approximately the same time. This may also be termed “blocked,” “bunched” or “batched” orders. Aggregated orders are effected in an attempt to obtain better execution, negotiate favorable transaction rates, or to allocate equitably among multiple client accounts should there be differences in prices, brokerage commissions or other transactional costs that might otherwise be unobtainable through separately placed orders.

Summit Advisor Solutions may aggregate trades within model portfolios. It is their policy that when a decision is made to aggregate transactions on behalf of more than one account, the transactions will be allocated to all participating client accounts in a fair and equitable manner. Further information about their aggregation and allocation policies is available upon request.

Since we serve accounts on a non-discretionary basis, it would be impractical to conduct aggregated trades for client accounts, and transactions for each client will be independently executed. Therefore, client accounts may potentially be assessed higher transaction costs than those where trade aggregation has occurred.

Trade Errors

Trade errors that occur within an account maintained at Schwab will be corrected within the client account. Should there be a gain following the correction of a trading error, the client’s account will typically be credited.

When a firm trading error occurs within an account maintained at TD Ameritrade, you should be aware that trading gains are swept out daily to a designated account and donated to a 501(c)(3) charity of TD Ameritrade’s choice. TD Ameritrade will be obligated to disclose in their own literature to its account holders whether such recipients’ receipt of such donations presents a material conflict of interest.

Item 13 - Review of Accounts

The timing of an investment review depends on the engagement agreement, which describes the nature of services you receive from our firm.

If your agreement is for one-time project, then a review occurs when you request it. A one-time review is done at the asset-class level (i.e., U.S. stocks, non-U.S. stocks, bonds, etc.) and at the “tactical level” (i.e., specific funds or ETFs).

For a Do-It-Yourself portfolio engagement, reviews typically occur three or more times a year according to your preference and as stated in the agreement. We review Do-It-Yourself portfolios with you at the asset-class and tactical level. You will receive regular reports from our firm for your account that will show your overall asset allocation, portfolio and individual security rates of return, portfolio expenses and historical returns for the portfolio and individual holdings. We generally use Morningstar® software to create these reports and we will prepare a commentary with a recommendation for portfolio adjustments, if warranted.

If you engage our firm for Custom Investment Management Services where your assets are invested in one of the model portfolios, reviews are offered to you quarterly and typically at the portfolio level, not at the underlying mutual fund level.

Summit Advisor Solutions prepares quarterly reports on clients' portfolios that will show individual holdings, historical performance information, transactions (if any) and overall asset allocation information.

All performance reports (if any are provided) will be prepared in accordance with appropriate jurisdictional guidance. Clients are urged to carefully review and compare account statements that they have received directly from their service provider with any performance report they may receive from any source.

Item 14 - Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Economic Benefit from External Sources and Potential Conflicts of Interest

As disclosed in Item 12, we may directly or indirectly receive economic benefit from the referenced custodians in the form of various products and services they make available to our firm and other independent investment advisors that may not be typically available to a "retail investor." These benefits may include the following products and services (provided either without cost or at a discount):

- receipt of duplicate client statements and confirmations;
- research related products and tools;
- access to trading desks serving our clients;
- access to block trading which allows our firm to aggregate securities transactions for execution and then allocate the appropriate shares to our client's accounts;
- the ability to have advisory fees deducted directly from our client's accounts per our written agreement;
- resource information related to capital markets and various investments;
- access to an electronic communications networks for client order entry and account information;
- access to mutual funds with no transaction fees and to certain third-party investment managers;
- discounts on marketing, research, technology, and practice management products or services provided to our firm by third party vendors; and
- business consulting or other professional services.

Some of the noted products and services made available by these custodians may benefit our firm but may not directly benefit a client account, and certain research and other previously referenced services may qualify as "brokerage or research services" under Section 28(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The availability of these services benefits our firm because it does not have to produce or purchase them as long as our clients maintain assets in accounts at the selected custodian. Therefore, there is an appearance of a conflict of interest since our firm may have an incentive to select or recommend a particular custodian based on our firm's interest in receiving these benefits rather than on our clients' interest in receiving favorable trade execution.

As part of its fiduciary duty, Juetten Personal Financial Planning, LLC endeavors at all times to put the interests of clients first. It is important to mention that the benefit received by our firm through participation in a custodian's program does not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to that custodian, and the selection of custodian is in the best interests of firm clients since the selection is primarily supported by the scope, quality, and price of their services -- not just those services that benefit only our firm. Further, we will act in the best interest of our clients regardless of the custodian we may select.

Advisory Firm Payments for Client Referrals

The firm does not engage in solicitation activities involving unregistered persons.

Juetten Personal Financial Planning, LLC is a member of the Garrett Planning Network, Inc. (Garrett Planning Network), an organization that assists financial planners in fee-only financial planning practices. Garrett Planning Network is not a registered financial industry participant nor is it believed its activities require it to be. We pay an annual membership fee to Garrett Planning Network for services that may include training, compliance and operational support to enhance our ability to provide quality service and advice to our clients.

An associate may hold individual membership or serve on boards or committees of professional industry associations. Generally, participation in any of these entities require membership fees to be paid, adherence to ethical guidelines, as well as in meeting experiential and educational requirements. A benefit these entities may provide to the investing public is the availability of online search tools that allow interested parties (prospective clients) to search for individual participants within a selected state or region. These passive websites may provide means for interested persons to contact a participant via electronic mail, telephone number, or other contact information, in order to interview the participating member. The public may also choose to telephone association staff to inquire about an individual within their area, and would receive the same or similar information. A portion of these participant's membership fees may be used so that their name will be listed in some or all of these entities' websites (or other listings).

Prospective clients locating our firm or an associate via these methods are not actively marketed by the noted associations. Clients who find us in this way do not pay more for their services than clients referred to us in another fashion, such as by another client. We do not pay these entities for prospective client referrals, nor is there a fee-sharing arrangement reflective of a solicitor engagement.

Item 15 - Custody

Client assets will be maintained by an unaffiliated, qualified custodian, such as a bank, broker/dealer (e.g., Schwab or TD Ameritrade), mutual fund companies, or transfer agent. Your assets are not held by our firm or by any associate. In keeping with our policy, we:

- Restrict the firm or an associate from serving as trustee or having general power of attorney over a client account;
- Prohibit any associate from having authority to directly withdraw securities or cash assets from a client account. Advisory fees will only be withdrawn from a client investment account through engagement of a qualified custodian maintaining client account assets, via prior written client approval;
- Do not accept or forward client securities (i.e., stock certificates) erroneously delivered to our firm;

- Will not collect advance fees of $500 or more for services that are to be performed six months or more into the future; and
- Will not authorize an associate to have knowledge of a client's account access information (i.e., online 401(k), brokerage or bank accounts) if such access would result in physical control over accounts.

You will be provided with transaction confirmations and summary account statements provided directly to you by your selected service provider. Typically, these statements are provided on a monthly or quarterly basis, or as transactions occur. We will not create a statement for you nor be the sole recipient of your statements.

As noted earlier, you may receive periodic reports or "snapshots" from our firm and Summit Advisor Solutions that will include investment performance information. You are urged to compare your account statements that you have received directly from your service provider with any report you receive from Juetten Personal Financial Planning, LLC or Summit Advisor Solutions that contains performance information.

Item 16 - Investment Discretion

Except for the Custom Investment Management Services, we do not execute transactions for our clients' accounts. Under unique circumstances, if we were asked to do so – perhaps under the custom investment management agreement – we would only do this for our clients under a non-discretionary engagement agreement. This means we would not implement an investment decision on behalf of your account, such as the purchase or sale of a security, without your first granting our firm the authority to do so. By definition and absent your written instruction to the contrary, a non-discretionary account transaction does not involve those with respect to a trade execution's price or time.

Model portfolio accounts managed by Summit Advisor Solutions under the Custom Investment Management Services agreement are under a discretionary account agreement. Similar to a limited power of attorney, discretionary authority allows them to implement investment strategies and decisions, such as the purchase or sale of a security on behalf of your account, without requiring your prior authorization for each transaction in order to meet your stated investment objectives. This authority will be granted through your execution of their account opening documents and will limit their authority in your account to the placement of trade orders and the deduction of their portion of an advisory fee. If you require your account be managed on a non-discretionary basis, you should be aware that they retain the right to either refuse or terminate an account, or continue to manage the account under a higher asset-based fee due to increased operational costs.

If you have reasonable account restrictions, limitations, and rescissions, they must be made in writing to our firm and they will be approved (in writing) by a firm principal. We will maintain a record of these requirements and they will be retained per current regulation.

Item 17 - Voting Client Securities

You may receive proxies or other similar solicitations sent directly from your selected custodian or transfer agent. Should we receive a duplicate copy, note that we do not generally forward these or any correspondence relating to the voting of your securities, class action litigation, or other corporate actions.

Our firm does not vote proxies on your behalf nor do we offer guidance on how to vote proxies. You will maintain exclusive responsibility for directing the manner in which proxies solicited by issuers of securities that are beneficially owned by you shall be voted, as well as making all other elections relative to mergers, acquisitions, tender offers or other events pertaining to your holdings. We do not offer guidance on or have the power, authority, responsibility, or obligation to take any action with regard to any claim or potential claim in any bankruptcy proceeding, class action securities litigation or other litigation or proceeding relating to securities held at any time in a client account, including, without limitation, to file proofs of claim or other documents related to such proceeding, or to investigate, initiate, supervise or monitor class action or other litigation involving client assets. However, we will answer limited questions with respect to what a proxy voting request or other corporate matter may be and how to reach the issuer or its legal representative.

Accounts managed under the Custom Investment Management Services agreement may have proxy voting executed by Summit Advisor Solutions. It is important for you to review their Form ADV Part 2A to determine their proxy voting policies. You may also obtain copies of their written proxy voting policies and procedures as well as information on how proxies were voted for an account by requesting such information directly from Summit Advisor Solutions. They will not disclose proxy votes to other clients or third parties unless specifically requested, in writing, by you or your legal representative.

Item 18 - Financial Information

Our advisory firm will not take physical custody of your assets, nor do we serve accounts on a discretionary basis that would allow such authority. Fee withdrawals must be done through a qualified intermediary (e.g., your custodian of record) per your prior written agreement.

Engagements with our firm do not require that we collect fees from you of $500 or more for our advisory services that we have agreed to perform six months or more into the future.

Neither our firm nor its management serve as general partner for a partnership or trustee for a trust in which the firm's advisory clients are either partners of the partnership or beneficiaries of the trust.

The firm and its management do not have a financial condition likely to impair its ability to meet commitments to clients, nor has the firm and its management been the subject of a bankruptcy petition.

Due to the nature of our firm's advisory services and operational practices, an audited balance sheet is not required nor included in this brochure.

¹The CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™, CFP® and federally registered CFP (with flame design) marks (collectively, the “CFP® marks”) are professional certification marks granted in the United States by Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Inc. (“CFP Board”).

The CFP® certification is a voluntary certification; no federal or state law or regulation requires financial planners to hold CFP® certification. It is recognized in the United States and a number of other countries for its (1) high standard of professional education; (2) stringent code of conduct and standards of practice; and (3) ethical requirements that govern professional engagements with clients. Currently, more than 62,000 individuals have obtained CFP® certification in the United States.

To attain the right to use the CFP® marks, an individual must satisfactorily fulfill the following requirements:

- Education – Complete an advanced college-level course of study addressing the financial planning subject areas that CFP Board’s studies have determined as necessary for the competent and professional delivery of financial planning services, and attain a Bachelor’s Degree from a regionally accredited United States college or university (or its equivalent from a foreign university). CFP Board’s financial planning subject areas include insurance planning and risk management, employee benefits planning, investment planning, income tax planning, retirement planning, and estate planning;
- Examination – Pass the comprehensive CFP® Certification Examination. The examination includes case studies and client scenarios designed to test one’s ability to correctly diagnose financial planning issues and apply one’s knowledge of financial planning to real world circumstances;
- Experience – Complete at least three years of full-time financial planning-related experience (or the equivalent, measured as 2,000 hours per year); and
- Ethics – Agree to be bound by CFP Board’s Standards of Professional Conduct, a set of documents outlining the ethical and practice standards for CFP® professionals.

Individuals who become certified must complete the following ongoing education and ethics requirements in order to maintain the right to continue to use the CFP® marks:

- Continuing Education – Complete 30 hours of continuing education hours every two years, including two hours on the Code of Ethics and other parts of the Standards of Professional Conduct, to maintain competence and keep up with developments in the financial planning field; and
- Ethics – Renew an agreement to be bound by the Standards of Professional Conduct. The Standards prominently require that CFP® professionals provide financial planning services at a fiduciary standard of care. This means CFP® professionals must provide financial planning services in the best interests of their clients.

CFP® professionals who fail to comply with the above standards and requirements may be subject to CFP Board’s enforcement process, which could result in suspension or permanent revocation of their CFP® certification.

²North American Securities Administrators Association (NASAA) examinations are "criterion based;" candidates who pass the exam are considered to have met the minimum competency level. The completion of an industry examination does not constitute or imply a person is “approved” or “endorsed” by a state or federal regulatory body.
